For Skills Limited, based at Mansfield i-centre, recently benefited from the redevelopment of an area of their website through the Aim Higher programme, resulting in customers' experience improvements. They were so impressed with their student that they have now offered him a full-time position.

For Skills Limited is a design and consultancy business providing a range of innovative web-based learning resources to address the needs of those wishing to implement and manage online learning e.g. schools, FE colleges and private training providers. For Skills Limited deliver a complete range of online assessments and learning resources for functional skills.

We worked with For Skills Ltd using our European funded Aim Higher programme to recruit a talented IT undergraduate with the skills the company needed to develop a new section on their website during a summer placement.

The company has benefited from the redevelopment of an area of the website and as a result their customers' experience has improved. Indeed the company were so impressed with the work completed during the placement period and the benefits to the company that they have since offered the student a full- time position with them.
